The Picture You've Waited for

"A Son of His Father!"

BY HAROLD BELL WRIGHT

The great story that delighted the two million readers of McCall's Magazine.

The great novel that is now the best seller in every town in America.

You can't best the Irish—even when you transplant them to Arizona.

The story of "A Son of His Father" and the "Wonder Girl" who made him worthy of his family name.

A son of his father—A daughter of Mother Machree—and a whole generation of thrills packed into an hour.

A Western thriller that sweeps along like the Twentieth Century Limited—and just as luxurious.

He had to fight to prove himself A Son of His Father.

Two Reel Comedy: "The New Teacher."

Coming Next Week: "The Keeper of the Bees."

Unfavorable Weather Delays Harvesting Operations

From Tuesday noon until Wednesday evening was the only period during the week when wheat cutting was possible, and rain, which commenced Wednesday night, is still falling as The Chronicle goes to press on Thursday afternoon, making it fairly certain that Monday will be the earliest day at which work in the fields with binders will be resumed. The delays experienced through unsettled weather have been extremely unfortunate for arriving harvesters, who are faced with a considerable wait before securing work, and as many of them are not over supplied with money, the situation is rather embarrassing. Up to date it is not considered the grain will sustain any damage from over ripening, as the cool weather experienced for some time has held the grain almost at a standstill. The most objectionable feature of the situation is the rapid growth of weeds in the standing crop, which promise to make cutting a difficult operation in many instances.

Flower Show August 28th

The annual flower show under the auspices of the Women's Institute will be held in the church on Saturday, August 28th. All school children in the community are eligible to enter, and are urged to care for their flowers, so their entries will be well worth showing. Tea will be served during the afternoon and evening. Following is the prize list.

Diversion of the stream of immigrant farm labor from the United States to Saskatchewan and Alberta will be recommended by Arne Kildal, secretary of the International League for Norsemen, for that class of immigrant labor from Norway. Mr. Kildal, who is on his way back to Norway after a tour of investigation of agricultural possibilities for his countrymen in Saskatchewan and Alberta, said the surplus population of Norway, especially surplus farm labor, must find an outlet. He said the north-west provinces of Canada offered good possibilities for those who wished to settle down to a life of farming.

During the week Principal Hafford put the rope through the top of the flag pole in the school, a job that was avoided by our most expert steeplejacks, and now the flag will float over the school according to regulations.

Misses Forbes and Melba McGilivray, Agnes Patterson, and Jean Alder received word that they had passed the Grade X examinations taking high marks in nearly all subjects.

Mrs. P. Patterson left for Calgary on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Manhard returned from Blackfalds where they spent two weeks. They encountered very wet weather.

Champion Has Edge On Them All

A. Kramer and family returned from their motor trip to Ontario on Tuesday morning. The trip was made via Shelby, Montana, while the return was through Wisconsin, Winnipeg and Saskatoon. Ottawa was the most easterly point reached. Mr. Kramer says he saw but very little crop equal to what we have here and no place which he considered as desirable to live from a business standpoint.

No Lib. Candidate In Bow River

There will be no liberal candidate in Bow River according to the convention held in Calgary on Tuesday. The convention, refused to endorse E. J. Garland or any other candidate at the same time the action taken assures the election of Mr. Garland.

Lord Clarendon, under secretary of state for dominion affairs, and T. C. MacNaughton C. M. G., C. B. E., vice chairman of the overseas settlement committee, who are making a thorough and comprehensive tour of the dominion in the interests of the imperial government in connection with the "3,000-family scheme," will arrive in Edmonton about the end of the month.

W. S. Ryan, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, left on Saturday last for Saskatchewan and Manitoba points on a trip combining business and holidays, as he has land interests which he will look after. He will be away two weeks.

At McCullough's store on Tuesday, Aug. 31, the Pullan Manufacturing Co. Ltd., Toronto, will make a special showing of ladies' fall suits, dresses and coats. This up to date line comes direct from the manufacturer to you. Call and see the new fall styles.

Mrs. W. E. Williamson returned from Arrow Lakes, B. C. having spent a very enjoyable holiday. The very dense smoke married the pleasure somewhat.

Mr. Miller, of Carmangay, took the service on Sunday. A splendid address was listened to by a fair sized audience.

Mrs. F. Lloyd was hostess to some twenty young girls and boys at her home in honor of Dot Stoddart prior to the departure of the latter for Calgary.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

This election campaign is developing a wonderful variety of recrimination and abuse. Some people and some politicians seem to revel in this sort of thing. There always has been and will be for a long time more or less graft in connection with the administration of public affairs because, whether we like the description or not, we are nearly all rather inclined to be grafters in the eyes of our neighbors. Our representatives in parliament are just as good as the people they represent—often better. In the smallest, as well as the largest, of our municipal institutions evidence of graft, often of a very petty character, may easily be located. No doubt it is our familiarity with the disposition to graft that makes it so easy to believe the very worst about our public men, or it may be we prefer something distant from home when this subject is under discussion. If there without sin were the only ones allowed to cast stones when graft was under discussion there would be a sudden and emphatic shortage in the ranks of the stone flingers.

A public speaker recently grouped the two old parties in the House of Commons as "Co-operative" and "Liberal" races, and provoked applause. It was very noticeable, however, that he mentioned nothing about "Farmer" races, although they would have been easy to recall. It is fairly safe to say that the leader of a man in his condemnation of graft and grafters the more closely should his own record be scrutinized. It is a mighty easy thing to do the stealing or be accessory to it and then lead the crowd in shouting "stop thief!"

During the war there was a union government in power with all four parties represented, and still graft was rampant because the opportunity was very largely present. Should this blacken the reputation of every member of that government any more than Peter Smith's indiscretions should reflect on the United Front as a whole? There is no logic in emphasizing a difference, and yet it is being tried in this campaign.

As was inferred before, our eagerness in the pursuit of the almighty dollar is just a little too prominent at times and the bounds of rigid integrity toward the public and our fellows are passed to some degree. No one would like to see intensity of effort towards success lessened to any extent because the future of the country depends upon the thrift and vigor of its citizens. To elect a man to parliament and expect him to immediately develop wings and the other attributes of an angel is sublime foolishness, and still there are people who do not hesitate to describe themselves possessed of this heavenly sort of virtue, in fact they go so far as to claim to monopolize it. The average individual would do well to remember that charity is the greatest of all the virtues, and its use in relation to men in public life, as well as at home, would go far towards eliminating graft and solve many of our other vexing problems.

The appointment of Herbert Greenfield as special immigration agent for the province will be gratifying to the farmers in the province as the present government selects only the best men for the positions to be filled and it is nice to think that even if a farmer cannot be premier he has qualities that make him the outstanding man for an immigration agent.

One thing that should be eliminated is the use of the mails and department facilities for the circulation of campaign literature by either party. It is an abuse of long standing, but nevertheless very objectionable. The matter franked from the House of Commons at the present time has naturally nothing to do with a session of parliament or the country's business. It is simply abuse of everyone but the party in temporary power at the public expense.

It matters not which way people travel from Champion this year they are all returning with the assurance that we have the best crops seen on their journey. This is highly gratifying, not because crops are not so good in other parts of the country as they are here, but because they are extra good here. It is very nice to feel that you are living in the very best part of the country once and awhile.

The action of the Liberal convention for Bow River in declining to put a candidate in the field is fully justified. The wisdom necessary on the part of the candidate in a riding of the size of Bow River, together with the extra expense of an election held in harvest time, fully justify the action taken, although it assures the return of the U.F.A. nominee.

Does Red Rust Injure Wheat

Black rust has usually been very much in evidence during the season when particularly severe rust losses have occurred. Because of this misconception and because a crop occasionally fills fairly satisfactorily when considerable rust is present, there is a popular impression abroad that only the black rust is injurious. Such is not the case. Rust is caused by a parasitic organism which can develop only in association with the plant from which it obtains its nourishment and consequently every bit of rust developed does so at the expense of the host plant. Moreover, rust and black rust are only two developmental stages of the same rust organism and, since the black rust is a resting one, when it appears no further damage occurs to the crop that year. The black stage develops ordinarily only after the red stage has been under way for quite a time and this explains why its appearance is so often associated with heavy rust losses. But the appearance of the black stage is not a good indication of the extent of the injury sustained and the red stage is the one to be watched. The wheat plant manages to carry on surprisingly well over though fairly heavily infected with rust, provided the infection does not reach the necks before the heads are fairly well filled. If the infection reaches there early in the development of the wheat plant the food material that should be utilized in filling out the head is used by the rust.
